

Identification

Have identification and a medical alert product like Road ID on you. With Road ID you can have limited information engraved on the tag or you can get a pin number that can be used to access detailed information from the Internet or by phone. Even if you do not have a significant medical history you may need this or a similar product should you be injured while at the field and cannot speak for yourself. It could save your life.

LISF members who have submitted emergency contact information will have it made available on LISF's Members Only web page. This password protected web page is used to protect personal information by making the information only accessible by LISF members.
